

Southeastern Symposium Participant FAQ

How do I access the virtual presentations?

It's simple! Just click on the link to the presentations on the Symposium homepage. It will open Zoom on your computer. If you have a problem during the symposium, email dblalock@sebts.edu for assistance.

Can people see me during the paper presentations?

No. You will not be visible in the paper presentations.

Can people hear me during the paper presentations?

If you are just viewing the presentation, no—you cannot be heard. If you ask a question and it is selected, you will be unmuted in order to voice your question. You will, then, be heard by all participants in the webinar.

How do I ask a question during a paper presentation?

At the end of every paper presentation, there will be a time for Q&A with the presenter. To ask a question, choose "Q & A" in the middle of the toolbar in the webinar, and type a short version of your question. If your question is chosen, the host will respond something like "We'd like to answer your question. Please, raise your hand." Once you've raised your hand the host will unmute you, and you can speak your question to the presenter.

Once I start a session, can I leave it and go to another session?

Yes. Just like rooms in a real academic conference, you can leave one room and move to another.

Can I log into the rooms early?

Presentation rooms will open 5 min before the presentation begins.

Can I just stay in one room and watch multiple sessions?

No. Each paper presentation has its own room. Once one session ends, that room will close. To access other presentations, you'll need follow their links on the Symposium homepage.
